Act bans glass on beaches here

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Glass containers have been banned on Hancock County beaches, and Beat One Supervisor Bert Courregue has announced plans to remove derelict pillings from the surf in his area.
Hancock County Board of Supervisors at its meeting Monday created and passed a resolution banning glass containers on Hancock County beaches. Violators will pay a $50 fine, according to the resolution.
Several Board members mentioned that broken glass on the beach was creating a health hazard.
Courregue said Monday he plans to get an estimate on the cost of removing derelict pillings from his beat.
Beat One beach road extends from Waveland Avenue to Bayou Cade.
The supervisor estimates approximately 350 derelict pillings to be within his area.

Waveland Ward Two Alderman Jack Toomey, who has publicly warned the derelict pillings are dangerous, said Monday after hearing of Courregue's plan, "I'm tickled to death. I wish all five of the supervisors would get together and try to remove all the derelict pillings along the beach."
"They (supervisors) might be surprised to find out that some organizations within Hancock County might assist them," the Alderman added.
Walter Gex, Board of Supervisors attorney, said during the Board meeting, "Owners of the pillings could be held liable if someone was hurt."
Courregue said he expects the derelict removal project to be expensive.

Juvenile escapes county jail, hides under pier

By RICH ADAMS
A 14-year-old Hancock County juvenile apprehended in Florida May 20 for alleged car theft and forgery squeezed through a six-by-12 inch air conditioning vent and fled the Hancock County Jail Sunday night, according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr.
Ladner reported the youth remained free for nearly an hour before his department and Bay St. Louis policemen found the escapee clinging to a piling beneath the Bay St. Louis public pier.
Ladner said the boy forced an air conditioning vent from the wall in a juvenile holding room in the jail, slid through a small hole, and ran out of the building past the night radio operator at approximately 8:40 p.m. Sunday.
His department received reports the youth was heading toward the Bay St. Louis public pier at the foot of Ulman Avenue.
Ladner was assisted in the search for the boy by Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson, Deputies A.J. Cuevas and Willie Lee, Bay Police Investigator Michael Hobbs, and Bay Patrolmen Ricky Trudel and Nel Ullmer.
Ladner said the youth was spotted on the pier, and when he and his men approached, the juvenile jumped from the pier and clung to a piling beneath the structure.

The boy was returned to another juvenile holding cell at the jail, and Ladner said he will add jailbreak to the charges pending against the youth.
Monday, Ladner complained about jail conditions to Hancock County supervisors and explained the need of a new jail.
He invited the supervisors to take a tour of the building to show them damage such as graffiti on walls of the juvenile holding areas, which he said were painted in April.
A window was broken by an unruly juvenile, he said, and a door was recently damaged by another.

Bay schools adopt new pay scale; teachers dissatisfied

By RICH ADAMS
The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Tuesday adopted a new teacher pay scale proposed by Superintendent J.D. McCullough, drawing criticism and objections from experienced teachers who say they are still being discriminated against.

Teacher representative Nell Woodall sharply objected to the new pay plan, which she said gives younger teachers a $100 local pay raise but brings experienced teachers to current year's level of local supplement.

Woodall said she and fellow members of the Bay Local, Mississippi Association of Educators, met after the school board meeting with representatives of the North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization and the Local Mississippi Federation of Teachers and discussed several alternatives with State Representative Gerald Blessey, the teachers' lawyer.

Some teachers have not signed their contracts since the board adopted a new pay scale May 4 which gave all teachers an $800 local pay supplement. Younger teachers who received the $100 increase stood by the more experienced teachers in a gesture of unity and also refused to sign their contracts.

Teachers, rallied by the Bay St. Louis Local, Mississippi Association of Educators, protested the new plan and refused to sign contracts until the board changed the pay scale.

A motion was made by Board Member Betty Diboll May 14 to give teachers equal local pay raises, which would move some experienced teachers to a $1,000 to $1,050 local supplement.

The board said it would study the budget to determine if the raise was feasible.

At the Tuesday special meeting, McCullough presented a new proposal which offered less experienced teachers an $800 supplement, a $100 raise over the current year's figures.

His plan gave some experienced teachers between $900-$950 in local supplements, the same amount as this year.

"I take full responsibility tonight," McCullough said.

"I went through the salary scale before I presented it to the board, and I thought the board completely understood the scale. I felt it was fair to all," he continued.

"I am trying not to hold back or impede or hamper or hinder progress of the school district," he added.

School bond issue goes to electorate August 7

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
A $3.7 million capital improvements bond issue will be presented to the Hancock County School District electorate Tuesday, August 7.

The Board of Supervisors Monday unanimously approved the August date which is contrary to the wishes of an advisory committee to the county school board.

School Board Superintendent Terrell Randolph and Board President Woodrow Ladner told supervisors the advisory committee had requested the school bond election be isolated from political candidate elections and that the bond election be called June 13, the earliest possible date.

Beat Two Supervisor Alton Kellar said more voters will be at the polls during August primary elections which in turn will allow a greater majority of

Pressman wants June school bond election

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
A Hancock County School Board advisory committee member says she is "very disappointed" in a board of supervisors' decision to call a school bond issue election in August.

Committee member Mrs. Gail Pressman voiced her complaint against the supervisors' decision in an interview Tuesday.

The advisory committee had recommended the Board call the school bond election on the earliest possible date. The earliest date an election could be called is June 13, according to Superintendent Terrell Randolph.

The committee had also recommended supervisors not involve the school election with political candidate elections in August.

Beat Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson moved the school bond election be called August 7; the motion was seconded by Beat Four Supervisor Sam Pernicaro and unanimously approved by the Board.

"In view of the critical needs of our county school system, coupled with rising costs, I am very disappointed that the bond issue election has been delayed over two months," Ms. Pressman said Tuesday.

"After speaking with Mr. Otis and Mr. Rutherford (Hancock County Circuit clerk and Chancery Court clerk, respectively) this morning," she continued, "the additional cost of an election would be around $5,000 not $8,000."

Otis later explained, "Ordinarily the cost for a county-wide election would be about $5,000 to $6,000. However, calling a special election on the school bond proposal in June would cost the county an additional $2,700."

"Students in the Hancock County school system should be given top priority at this time and not have to wait until a political primary," the committee member insisted.

"Personally, I've got kids in the school system and I dislike watching the cost of building increase while I wait for an election," lamented Pressman.

Ms. Pressman noted several residents had telephoned her and complained of the board's action Monday.

Manslaughter hearing set

A preliminary hearing in Waveland City Judge Lucien Gex's court will be held tonight for Paul L. Berry, 19, of Picayune who is charged with manslaughter in the Saturday traffic death of a six-year-old New Orleans boy on Beach Boulevard.

Charles Emile Heldingsfelder Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Heldingsfelder of 1892 Upperline St., New Orleans, was killed when he was allegedly struck by a motorcycle driven by Berry, Waveland, police reported.

A Requiem Mass was celebrated Sunday for Heldingsfelder at the Jacob Schoen and Son Funeral Home in New Orleans followed by burial in Metairie.

electors to vote on the issue. Randolph replied he believes many voters who go to the polls during candidate elections will have that "I don't care attitude, the kind that vote against anything that costs money."

Kellar also noted a special bond election in June would cost tax payers additional funds.

Hancock County Circuit Clerk Henry Otis said, "An additional $2,700 would be needed to finance a special school bond election in June compared to the cost of an August election; some additional $2,200 for election managers and about $500 for extra meetings of election commissioners."

"People have been telling me they don't want to spend money to call a special election," Beat Five Supervisor James Travira stated.

Ladner asserted, "The advisory committee has strongly recommended not to get the school bond election involved in the political elections in August."

"I'll vote against calling the school bond election if its called in June," Beat Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson exclaimed.

The $3,722,459 bond proposal will finance construction of an elementary school near Hancock North Central High School, construction of a junior-senior high south of I-10 and renovations at Hancock North Central.

If the bond issue passes, it will generate $270,000 in EFC state funds.

The EFC funds, $3,722,459 bond funds, in addition to $486,700 in local surplus funds will provide a total of $4,479,159 to be used for facilities in the school district.

The combined cost for the elementary school and the junior-senior high school is $4,288,035; therefore a balance of $191,124 in excess funds will remain and be used for renovations at HNC.

Renovations at HNC will include:

- Remodeling of a chemistry lab into a physical science lab.

- Construction of a new physics lab.

- Relocation of the HNC library to its original location.

- Conversion of the present library into a business education department.

- Remodeling the present elementary into high school classrooms.

- Conversion of a section of the present elementary, recently constructed, into a special education center.

- Remodeling of a teachers' lounge.

- Construction of two physical education dressing rooms.

Watch for wildlife, federation urges

WILDLIFE GROUP
URGES VACATIONERS:
WATCH OUT FOR WILDLIFE

ALONG HIGHWAYS
It is estimated that autos kill millions of wild animals on the U.S. roads each year, and much of the damage occurs during the spring and summer, when rural roads are jammed with holiday-bound motorists, the National Wildlife Federation reports.

If you are about to go on vacation, the National Wildlife Federation urges you to observe these humanitarian rules:

Remember to look out for animals, both wild and domestic, along the highways. By driving alertly, especially at night, you can help spare the lives of creatures who normally panic when confronted with a speeding auto.

Dr. Fred R. Scroggin, president of the NWF, issued the appeal.

"We can't assume that wildlife will act rationally when they see your car," he said.

"The driver must be rational. You may have to stop completely to avoid a collision that could kill you as well as that roadside animal," he added.

Scroggin noted that 29,914 whitetail deer and 84 bears were killed by autos in just one state, Pennsylvania, last year.

In one area, Allegheny County, drivers killed more deer on the highways than hunters bagged during the hunting season.

Three Pennsylvania State University employees who conducted an informal survey of the wildlife toll in their area are convinced that millions of animals die on the state's roads yearly. Along their 40-mile commutation route alone, on one month they counted 65 dead rabbits, 34 birds, 20 opossums, and a number of raccoons, skunks, groundhogs, cats, dogs, squirrels, deer, chipmunks, snakes, foxes, and porcupines.

The three noted that the greatest number of animals died on unfenced, two-lane roads bordering farm or forests.

NWF's President Scroggin also advised against "adopting" or "rescuing" wildlife. "Wild animals make bad, and even dangerous pets," he said.

Except in rare cases where an injured animal might be taken to a veterinarian for treatment, and then released again into the wild, he said, most wild animals are better off left to their parents.

Signs, fencing and pavement marking work to begin on I-10

The State Highway Department reports that Interstate Sign Erectors, a Division of LFE Corporation of Little Rock, Arkansas, this month would begin construction of a $2,178,360 project in Hancock, Harrison, Jackson and Pearl River Counties.

The project, let by the Mississippi State Highway Commission, includes some 58 miles of signing, pavement marking, and fencing of Interstate Highway 10 between the Louisiana-Mississippi

State Line in Hancock County and Mississippi Highway 57; 7.575 miles of signing on Interstate Highway 59 between Nicholson and Mississippi Highway 43; and 1.448 miles of signing and pavement marking on Interstate Highway 110 between Back Bay Bridge and Interstate Highway 10 in Harrison County.

Southern District Highway Commissioner W.H. "Shag" Pyron stated that Mr. R.A. Lee of Gulfport would serve as project engineer for the construction.

FOUR NEW CHEERLEADERS—Pearl River College elected four new cheerleaders for the next school year here last week. Cheerleaders from the University of Southern Mississippi were the judges and they picked (kneeling) Mark Proulx, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Proulx, Bay St. Louis; (standing) Suzanne McSwain, daughter of Mrs. Sarah McSwain, Bogalusa; Terry Lou McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal McDonald, Lumberton; and Terrie Harriel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laven Harriel, of Poplarville.

Mississippi State president addresses 401 PRJC graduates

Pearl River Junior College scheduled activity of the ended, its 69th year here. Sunday with formal graduation exercises for 401 students on the Poplarville campus.

Nearly 2500 family members and friends of the largest graduating class ever watched as 179 students received associate degrees and 222 received certificates of proficiency.

Last year's graduating class of 340 students had 164 students receive associate degrees and 176 accept certificates of proficiency.

Pearl River adopted the policy last year to have freshman and sophomores take final exams at the same time, thus graduation is the final cases in quality. "We need to take pride in our work, even that work which others might not see when completed."

The graduates were urged to remember that values, attitudes, and beliefs are more important than ever. "Know what you believe, why you believe it and be willing to stand for what you believe," he said.

"Self-control and self-discipline certainly should be an outcome of a good education and development of strong basic values," Dr. McComas summarized.

"Remember that education is not a destination, it is a continuous journey for as long as we live. As long as we learn, we continue to grow, regardless of our age," the Mississippi State president said.

Enoch Seal Jr., academic dean, presented the degree graduates and Albert Brooks, vocational-technical coordinator, presented the career graduates.

President White gave out all the diplomas.

Dr. Robert Barnes, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Poplarville, gave the invocation and Father Thomas White, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church of Lumberton and Poplarville, gave the benediction.

Sixty students graduated with honors and 40 finished with special honors.

Don't buy a flooded car, Used Car Dealers warn

The Mississippi Used Car Dealers Association has issued a warning to potential auto purchasers to "beware of flooded cars."

"Recent severe flooding in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana resulted in thousands of cars being flooded. Without extensive renovations such cars are not serviceable."

Flooding damage is especially harmful to vehicles electrical systems," said an association spokesman.

"There is additional information that attempts will be made to dump many of these cars on consumers by unscrupulous persons," said Jimmy Jefcoat of Pascagoula, president of the Independent Auto Dealers Association.

Spokesmen for the Mississippi Attorney General's Office pointed out that a consumer who buys a flood damaged car without being told have a strong recourse under the law and should contact Ray Keys, the consumer protection officer in the Attorney General's Office. Don't expect to be able to readily identify flood damaged cars. They can be cleaned up so it is difficult unless you know what to look for," said Association Manager, George H. Jones of Birmingham.

"The best way of recognizing a flood damaged car, and we want to emphasize this strongly," said Jefcoat, "is to look under the car's dash. Check for mud, mildew and trash. While more obvious damage can be cleaned up, it's almost impossible to hide the damage done to electrical wiring and connections behind the car's dashboard."

Other things to check, according to the Mississippi Used Car Dealers Association include:

1. Check the electrical connections under the hood. Look for mud or mildew. Don't really expect to find much, if any rust.

2. Particular things to check for water damage would be the electrical parts, especially such things as the alternator, generator, starter and air conditioner com-pressor.

It is difficult to get all the signs of damage off the wiring connections even with the most careful job.

3. Water damage can show up under fenders but a good clean up job will readily conceal the damage, so its not nearly as accurate as checking under the dash and electrical parts under the hood for mud, mildew, and trash.

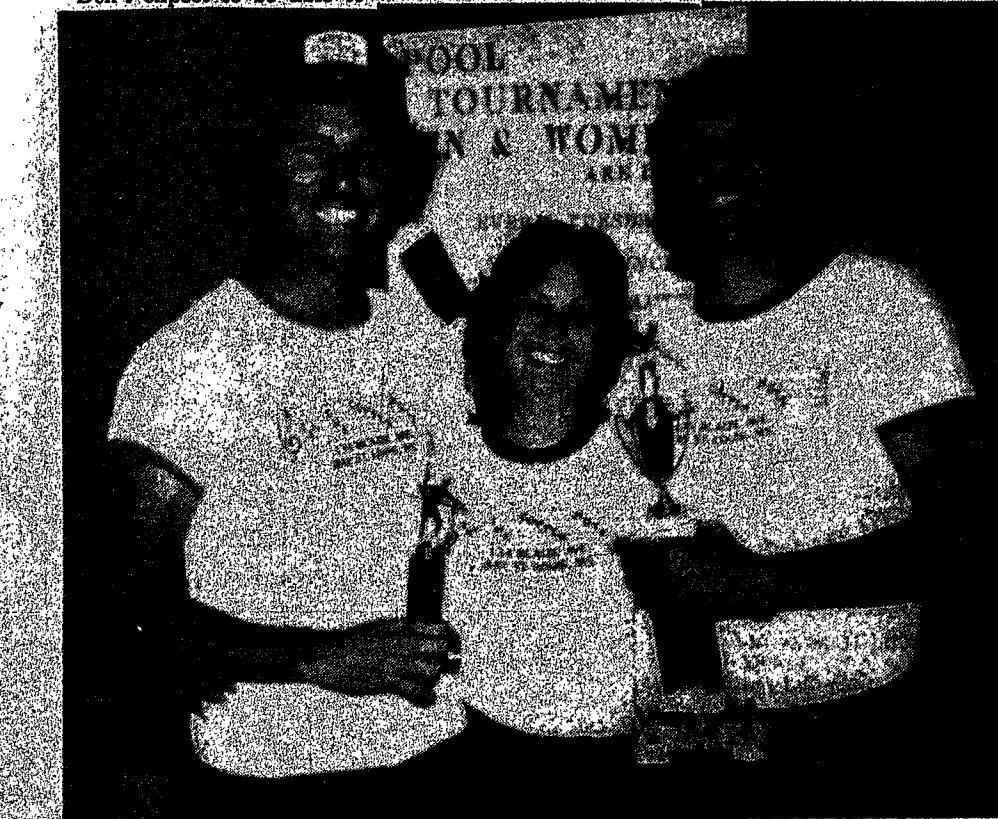

4. Look for rust on springs under the seat.

On a more general basis, Association President Jefcoat urged consumers:

1. Deal with a reputable dealer with an established place of business. He's going to be there tomorrow to keep the promises he made.

2. Get promises made put in writing in the contract. Chances for recovery are greatly enhanced under Mississippi law is a promise or warranty is made in writing.

3. Be careful of a buy that is "too good to be true." It possibly is! Instead of getting something for nothing, you're much more likely to get nothing for something.

Choctaw Indians chiefs' village in Hancock 'the loveliest spot'

One of the most historic, most interesting and most beautiful spots in all South Mississippi is the former home site of the Choctaw Indian chiefs on the bluff on the Hobeolochitto River where the home of the R. H. Crosby family now stands in the northwest part of Picaune.

Mrs. Elsie Farr, who lived in Picaune for a number of years during the 1920s became interested in this old time home of the Choctaw chiefs and wrote a most interesting history of it and its later occupants.

Since Miss Farr, who later on became an associate editor of Readers Digest magazine, has described this old place so much better than I possibly could, I quote from her the description of "the loveliest spot in this lovely country."

"The Indians, with their innate appreciation of the beautiful, have always chosen for their habitations the loveliest spots in this lovely country."

"This was for centuries the home of the Choctaw Indian chiefs, who lived here, with their warriors, much as kings might live at a palace, only that this was nature's own handiwork rather than a structure of men's hands."

"The first white man to settle in this land of the Choctaws was Stephen Jarrell, the son of a Scotchman. The exploits of the French, the British and the Spanish had already marked a trail to this part of the country, and Jarrell formed the first white settlement on the river below Cybur, in the edge of Picaune."

"But it did not take this canny Scotchman long to acquire the lovely retreat of the Choctaw chiefs beside the Hobeolochitto, and this probably marked the beginning of the scattering of the Indians which culminated in their exile from this land of the pines about a half century later in 1830."

"Muchiha, then chief of the Choctaws, moved with his warriors to Caesar, then Center, in Hancock County, where the first courthouse was established. There was then quite an Indian village at Caesar."

"Jarrell built a log cabin beside the Hobeolochitto and established a trading post for the Indians, who lived north, south, east, and west."

"This same cabin, we are told was the headquarters of the first United States surveyors. (This Jarrell was the progenitor of the Jarrells now living in this area)."

"Meantime the country had been drawn into the vortex of war. General Jackson's brave defense of the Gulf Coast against the British in the War of 1812 has gone down in history."

"In General Jackson's army, acting as assistant quartermaster was a young man named Moses Cook, a Pennsylvanian by birth, who had enlisted from Tennessee."

"When Jackson's army marched overland from Mobile to New Orleans, they came by way of what is now the town of McNeill, on to Poole Bluff, and from Caesar to Gainesville, and Pearlinton, thereby passing within a few miles of the present city of Picaune."

"Having heard of Stephen Jarrell's trading post, the young assistant quartermaster came here to secure provisions for the army."

"Such a picturesque haven as he found beside the Hobeolochitto made a lasting impression upon the young man."

"As he watched the stream wind around this peaceful nook, caressed by the breath from the moss-hung live oaks and guarded by the stately pines, something of the devotion it had inspired in the ancient Choctaws must have entered his soul."

"The picture of this potent paradise, where the beauty of heaven and earth met to refresh and inspire, stayed with him through the irks of the next few years."

"In 1819 he returned to this land of the Choctaws with his wife and bought from Jarrell this paradise of Indian chiefs.

"Moses Cook immediately began extensive improvements. He built a large double pen log house and enlarged the store where Jarrell's little cabin had been."

"In 1828 he built the first bridge, with a gate across to guard the approach to the place. This for some twenty years was used as a toll bridge and thus made a source of revenue."

"Five cents was the toll for a man alone, fifteen cents for a man on horseback, and twenty-five cents for a wagon."

"A bell at the bridge enabled the traveler to announce himself to the attendants, who thereupon collected the toll and opened the gate."

"Other white men had located near the Jarrells on the river below Cybur, and new settlers were coming nearer and nearer to the old home of the Choctaw chiefs."

"Mr. Cook urged them to come for he was a public spirited citizen with strong fraternal instincts and a robust faith in the promise of this beautiful section."

"Many of Picaune's best known citizens of today are descendants of the men and women Moses Cook induced to come here at that time."

"It was probably largely due to Cook's influence that the territory was sectionalized about the year 1830, and that Tom Mitchell homesteaded here."

"This newly settled country became the prey for many a bandit and we are told that robbers invaded the log house beside the Hobeolochitto one day when Cook and his wife were away and an old woman was in charge."

"Urged to help them in their search for plunder, the faithful old soul refused, even when they pulled her finger nails out by the roots. Her resolute loyalty to her trust goaded her torturers to murder."

"It is said this old Black mammy's spirit haunts the place; so if sometimes you hear the soothing notes of a lullaby crooned against the soft ripple of the stream, you may know that her spirit is still attuned to the melody of the Hobeolochitto."

"In 1838 Moses Cook was appointed probate judge of Hancock County (for Pearl River was not then a separate county), and as such was instrumental in the enactment of important state legislation."

"It was Judge Cook who founded the first Masonic Lodge in South Mississippi - Moses Cook No. III."

Originally established in Gainesville, this lodge was later moved to Nicholson, and still later to Picaune, where it stands today as a fitting monument to its founder. (It is said that Moses Cook cooperated in the establishment of the Masonic Lodge at Logtown).

Moses Cook was one of the outstanding men of his time in this general area. He is buried on the hillside just south of where R. H. Crosby's home now stands, with a gravestone to identify his last resting place.

Moses Cook owned many slaves. His slave quarters were where the home of the late Col. L. O. Crosby, Sr. was located.

He had several fields nearby which he cultivated.

Even now, a search into the woods east of Crosby's home will reveal signs of old rows where the land was in cultivation in the long ago, including the area where there are now many fine homes. I think it is well for us to know more about our community and who lived here a comparatively short time ago.

Something has to change

We contend that the 35 mile-per-hour speed limit on Beach Boulevard is too fast for the daylight hours on weekends of summer months when we all flock to the beach.

We have children, bicycles, dogs, boats, frisbies, groups of children trying to make judgements as when it is safe to cross Mississippi Highway 606 as they are threatened by some vehicles frequently exceeding the 35-mile-limit.

Highway 606 does not have parking bays like US-90 in Harrison County, so everyone using the Hancock Beaches must cross over the road.

All children seem to have a tendency to dart across streets without thinking especially when they are chasing something like a frisbie or beach ball.

Speed limits are reduced to 10 or miles an hour around parks and playgrounds when they are in use. Think about it, our Beach is our biggest playground, especially in the summertime.

We have had one child killed on Highway 606 last week and another injured over the Easter Holidays. How many more children will have to be run over before something is done to protect them?

In a previous editorial we cited the need for parking Bays on the water side of Highway 606. That is something which will probably take years to complete if efforts to do it are considered.

Meanwhile, probably more children will be run over, maybe more killed, and who are we to blame?

Until Beach Boulevard has parking bays, we think the speed limit should be reduced from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays until after Labor Day from Washington Street in Bay St. Louis to beyond Buccaneer State Park in Waveland - our fabulous 10-mile playground.

A very good law!

Monday the Hancock County Board of Supervisors passed an ordinance banning the use of any type of glass containers on our beaches.

This new law is one which should have been put on the books many years ago. Hundreds and maybe thousands of people have suffered cuts on their feet because of the careless disposal of glass containers.

We are aware, of course, there will be a problem enforcing such a law, but if a few stiff fines are metered out for violations, the word will get out.

Our hospital has enough emergency traffic without cuts caused by broken glass. We commend our leaders for this new law.

Boaters, remember this!

Proper equipment on a boat probably saved the life of a couple and their young son last Saturday morning. The three were rescued by the Mississippi Safety Water Patrol, but all had life preservers and a sounding device.

The trio, of course, was lucky that a Waveland Policeman who saw their boat go up in flames informed the Hancock County Sheriff's office which had direct communication with a Water Safety Patrol Boat in the process of launching.

We are told that when the water patrolmen got to the area and turned their engine off they could hear the sounding device and picked up the three in only a few minutes.

Having witnessed two boats aflame in recent years, we know a fisherman has very little time to abandon the boat.

With summer fast approaching, we hope that each of you who uses our waters will take every precaution necessary and if an emergency does arise, you will have the proper equipment aboard, reachable in split seconds.

The U.S. Coast Guard and the Mississippi Water Safety Patrol are out checking boats to see if they have proper equipment. Some of you may be annoyed but, remember, if only one life is saved it is worth all the troubles to everyone checked.

Remember this, without proper life preservers we could have had three more victims.

There will be some tragedies like the recent one out from Bayou Cadet that probably a thousand life preservers wouldn't have helped, but whenever we go out on a boat we take ours along.

GRIM REMINDER - This motorcycle's broken headlight which occurred when the machine struck and killed a six-year-old boy on Beach Boulevard in Waveland Saturday is a grim reminder that reduced speed limits on that thoroughfare are necessary during daylight hours on weekends if similar tragedies are to be averted this summer. A five-year-old girl was hit and seriously injured on Beach Boulevard in Waveland during the Easter weekend.

MAY BE THE ANSWER - Portable speed zone signs such as this one used on streets bordering McDonald Little League Baseball Field in Bay St. Louis when the park is in use may be one method of instituting reduced speeds during the daylight hours of weekends along Beach Boulevard which borders the county's most beautiful, largest and most used playground of all-our beaches.

Beach Death...

The child was allegedly killed instantly early Saturday night when he was struck by the motorcycle, police said.

The boy was in Waveland for the weekend with his parents. Waveland police said the motorcycle struck the boy and hurled him into the seawall.

The cyclist was heading east on Beach Boulevard near Waveland Avenue when the accident occurred about 7 p.m. Saturday, police said.

Mobile Medic personnel pronounced the child dead at the scene. Waveland police reported Berry's bond was set at $1,000.

To The Editor

Physician probes emergency service

Editor,
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

I would hope that our community's Council on Emergency Medical Services (EMS) might be stimulated to provide the leadership necessary to improve the quality of care for the emergency victim.

Advancements in the past have included the use of a single access number (911) and well equipped emergency vehicles staffed by certified EMT's, yet additional plans, programs and education are required for greater effectiveness and emphasis on accident prevention.

Please furnish names of our current representatives on the EMS council and when they meet so that other concerned individuals might contribute to the system and express themselves.

Thank you,
Wm. Bradford M.D.

Spay-neuter funds exhausted

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis, Ms.

The Editor,

The response to the Bay-Waveland Humane Society's Phase III spaying and neutering program (a much needed service) to control the population of cats and dogs was a great success.

There is a noticeable reduction of stray animals running the streets which shows the program is effective and an important service of the Society.

The society has paid out $400 on this program, exhausting currently available funds.

All donations are extremely important to keep this place going for the health and well-being of the people of the Bay St. Louis and Waveland Cities.

All interested people should join this society.

For more information on the purpose and workings of the Humane Society, please call 467-9494.

Thank you,
Sincerely,
Odile R. Carter

Coverage slights judge, historian

May 21, 1979
Editor and Publisher
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

The Hancock County Historical Society thanks the Sea Coast Echo for the front page publicity of the Pray marker unveiling which appeared in your May 20 edition.

I am aware the editor and staff of your paper at all times strive to publish news of public interest such as that of Judge Pray, "an early Hancock County legislator and judge" who deserved this recognition.

Your paper is to be commended for bringing before the public news of the historical background and development of Hancock County.

Due to this interest on your part it most certainly must have been unintentional or an oversight that the cut-line under the photo of the marker published a name incorrectly. The names of all of those published were unquestionably correct except for Peggy Giveans who is, or has been, a resident of Bay St. Louis and a native of the city.

This person has never been associated with the Hancock County Historical Society, is not nor never has been a member or historian of the Society.

It is also regrettable that the feature speaker of the program on May 18, Judge Ruble Griffin, was not recognized and commended for his splendid historical biography of Judge Pray in your coverage of this event.

I am requesting a retraction and correct spelling of the picture and cut-line and published on the front page May 24, 1979 issue and statement from your paper to this effect.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Elmore (Peggy) Gibbens
Hancock County Historical Society
Historian - Historic Sites

(Editor's note: Mrs. Elmore (Peggy) Gibbens, historical sites historian for the Hancock County Historical Society, was inadvertently identified as 'Peggy Giveans' under a front-page photo in the Sunday Echo in connection with the unveiling of an historical marker on the Hancock County Courthouse lawn. The Echo regrets this error.)

Law enforcement agencies stress speed limits, sobriety during holiday weekend

By RICH ADAMS

State and local law enforcement agencies are stressing traffic safety for the Memorial Day weekend, a 78-hour period beginning at 6 p.m. Friday and ending at midnight Monday.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Departments along with the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, and the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol, said street patrolling will be increased and speed limits will be enforced.

Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn said he will step up radar patrolling on Beach Boulevard in an attempt to "save lives."

"We're looking for more tourists to stop at Waveland due to the gas shortage," Dorn said Tuesday.

"Last weekend there were hundreds of people between Coleman Avenue and Buccaneer State Park on the sand beaches. It looked like Ponchatrain Beach here," he continued.

"All I can do is urge drivers to drive safely, keep the speed limit in mind, and observe people on the beach," Dorn added.

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams said he will also increase manpower in his department by adding auxiliary patrolmen during the long weekend.

"I will have additional men on the streets to check on traffic and anything pertaining to keeping the peace," Williams said.

"I suggest drivers go along with the speed limit on the highways, and more important, watch the 25 miles-per-hour speed limits within the city limits," he continued.

"Be a defensive driver, save energy, and you might save a life," Williams added.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. said he also will increase his staff by adding auxiliary deputies on traffic patrol.

"We always add extra men on holidays," Ladner said.

"I hope people will observe the laws and not drink and drive. If somebody drinks and drives, they worry about their rights and forget about other people's rights," Ladner continued.

"All I ask is if you drink, not to drive. If one death or accident occurs, that mars the holiday season for us all," he added.

Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol District Inspector George Saxon said his department has cancelled all days off and has assigned all desk and auxiliary personnel to the roads in an attempt to cut down on speeding.

"I don't think the traffic situation will be bad this year because of the gas situation," Saxon said.

"All I can offer is the same old cliches... Obey traffic laws and don't drink and drive," he added.

Commissioner of Public Safety James Finch reminded motorists that last year traffic accidents during the Memorial Day period claimed more lives in Mississippi than any other holiday period.

The commissioner said 18 people were killed in 83 separate accidents during the 78-hour observance last year.

He said one motorcycle was involved in the fatal mishaps, three pedestrians, and fourteen in automobile wrecks.

Finch said the State Highway Patrol will work with state patrols of Tennessee, Alabama, and Louisiana implementing 'Operation Care' (Combined Accident Reduction Effort), to attack the problem of highway speeders.

"With this the first major holiday observance of the summer, traffic will be heavy, especially during peak hours of travel on Friday and Monday," Finch said.

"We are assigning patrol units and officers with speed-detecting radar equipment, as well as surveillance aircraft, to selected highways including interstates," he continued.

"According to tests conducted by the Federal Highway Administration, depending upon the type of car, drivers can get from 17 to nearly 50 percent better gas mileage at 55 miles-per-hour than at 70," Finch reported.

"If a person is behind the wheel of an automobile drinking alcohol and driving, he is seven times more likely to become involved in an accident. For these reasons, we shall be on the roads in full force during the upcoming holiday period," he warned.

Council predicts 600-800 deaths

By RICH ADAMS

With the Memorial Day weekend beginning Friday at 6 p.m., the National Safety Council reminds drivers traffic deaths increase 16 percent during holidays and the rate of deaths per miles traveled increases about nine percent.

The National Safety Council is predicting between 600 to 800 deaths on nationwide highways and roads this Memorial Day period, along with an estimated 23,000 to 25,000 disabling injuries resulting from those accidents.

According to the safety council, the death rate has risen from 425 during the three-day period in 1975 to its estimated 680 to 800 in 1979.

The council estimates holiday travelers around the nation will drive 14.6 billion miles compared to 12.8 billion traveled in 1975.

Average non-holiday mileage driven in 1979 has been estimated at 13.5 billion for a three-day period, the safety council reported. In 1975, 4.5 deaths per million miles occurred on roads and highways across the country and that number will increase to 5.0 deaths per million miles traveled this year, the council reported.

Bond issues considered for Bay school projects

By RICH ADAMS

Proposals for construction of a new band hall at Bay St. Louis Senior High School, renovations and new construction at North Bay Elementary will probably require approval of at least one, maybe two bond issues by the municipal school district electorate.

Bay High Band-Aide President Grace Gibson, who has been pressuring the board to build a band hall at the senior high school, presented plans and suggested a bond issue to construct a new band hall at a special meeting of the school board Tuesday.

Board Member James Ginn, supported by Architect Jules Lagarde, also suggested a bond issue for renovation and new construction at North Bay Elementary.

The board plans to meet June 12 to discuss alternative methods of funding the construction, roughly estimated at $770,000.

Ginn produced plans drawn by School Architect Fred Wagner which include construction of four new classrooms, a new cafeteria and kitchen, and renovation of the old food service building, office space and a library at North Bay.

In addition to that construction, the plans specify renovation of present office space into three additional classrooms.

The estimated total cost of construction is $610,000, but Ginn suggested the construction be done a little at a time.

School Superintendent J.D. McCullough read a list of priorities called a long-range plan, which is presently on file in Jackson with the Educational Finance Commission.

He said the list of priorities for the school are:

- Junior High cafeteria, which was completed at a cost of $214,000;
- North Bay lunchroom, completed at a cost of $21,000;
- Construction of two additional classrooms at the Junior High, in progress with a cost of $22,000;

- Waveland Elementary renovation, mostly re-roofing, costing $32,100;
- And replacement of trailers at North Bay, $610,000.

"You all know the ceiling collapse at the Junior High slowed down our plans and we had to go to the EFC and request funds," McCullough said.

"Then we had a fire in one wing of the Senior High School, which caused us to request more emergency funds from the EFC," he continued.

"Going from there, we forge ahead, and the next order of business is the junior high renovation," the superintendent explained.

"I have called the EFC, and we have $160,000 available in funding for construction and renovation," he added.

"We could also borrow on short-term notes, where we could get close to $70,000," he continued.

"That still doesn't mean we can borrow that much. There may only be available $2,000 to $3,000, and I have reservations borrowing that. I respect the board's decision, though," McCullough said.

McCullough said another method would be "15 percent of our total assessment," meaning a bond issue.

"We could get $3.3 million dollars that way, but that would be up to the people," he added, never specifying the money would come from a bond issue.

"I recommend to the board we continue to study relative to renovation and construction to meet needs of students," McCullough said.

Lagarde explained what construction is planned at North Bay, pointing out the seven classrooms, new cafeteria, and other renovations.

Ginn suggested the board consider a bond issue request.

"I feel we need a bond issue to complete the overall job. There is no way to complete it with EFC or short-term loan monies," Ginn said.

Lagarde agreed with Ginn, explaining the only other alternative would be "piecemeal construction," a little at a time.

"I agree with the bond issue...this is a bond issue situation," Lagarde said.

Ginn then stressed the immediate need to replace the trailers, and moved the board meet June 12 at 7 p.m. to further discuss possible solutions.

Board Member Betty Diboll seconded the motion, which was unanimously approved.

A visibly irritated Grace Gibson then presented the board with an architect's floor plan for a new band hall.

"I am upset. The board has continually neglected and ignored the band," Gibson said.

"Band is a class in which students are tested and graded, and it is impossible to teach band in the present facilities," she continued.

"Band parents are tired of fighting for this. The school board ok'd the long-range plan, but the band hall is 14 years late," she explained.

"The band hall was included in the original plans for the senior high school. We have met with the board two times this year, and nothing has been done...it is still 14 years late," Gibson added.

Gibson had presented the board with a letter from the U.S. Navy Seabees in Gulfport who offered to construct the band hall without charge if the school provided the materials.

Band Director Glenn Page told the board he was promised a band hall by McCullough if he took the director job three years ago.

"I took a pay cut to come down here. I was concerned about the lack of a band hall, and I came to the board and requested a band hall," Page said.

"I see no reason why we are second to last at the school," he added.

Band Booster Cliff Sivori then explained plans for the new facility to the board.

"It is a very simple plan. The Seabees are willing to build it for us. I read somewhere the national average cost of construction is two-thirds for labor and one-third for materials," Sivori told the board.

"We should at least make a shot at it," he added.

McCullough pointed out EFC funds could not be used for the building if Seabees were to do the free construction.

Mrs. Gibson then suggested the board present a separate bond issue for the band hall.

"I am certain a bond issue for the band hall alone will pass," she said.

The board agreed to obtain a cost breakdown of materials and contact the Seabees to look into the feasibility of construction.

Teacher Pay...

He made a recommendation the board adopt a plan which he had drafted, giving less experienced teachers a $100 raise next year.

The superintendent's plan only returned some experienced teachers' local supplements to this year's amount, however.

McCullough's proposal gave A certificate teachers with 11 or more years of experience a $900 supplement, AA licensed teachers with 14 or more years experience a $950 local supplement, and AAA certified teachers with 15 or more years teaching time a $950 local pay addition.

Board Member James Ginn asked if the proposal will give all teachers a $100 local increase.

Teachers in the audience said no, but McCullough said in his opinion, the raise would be equal.

Mrs. Woodall then addressed the board, and said a motion from the May 14 meeting was still pending.

She said Mrs. Diboll had moved to reinstate the teachers with a $100 raise in a pay scale proposed by teachers, and that matter had to be dismissed before the board could consider the new scale.

Woodall added the board was supposed to study the school budget and "make cuts wherever possible" prior to the meeting.

Board Attorney Lucien Gex said the board's purpose at Tuesday's meeting was to study the budget to determine if a $100 raise would be feasible.

Woodall explained that the new pay plan still omits experienced teachers from receiving a raise.

"When too many figures become involved, it is hard to see that Mr. McCullough's proposal doesn't give a raise to all teachers," Woodall said.

Woodall explained she went through channels as required by the board's Policy 13, and added she was at the meeting as a representative of all teachers, not of a union.

She then said the Bay AFT, the other teacher's union, has agreed with the MAE in the feeling the pay raises are unfair.

Andrews Wilkinson (Bay AFT president) is in agreement with us, even though we are separate organizations, we are working together," Woodall said.

"We never complained about our salary before, and we never asked for a salary raise. We showed gratitude for our pay last year," she continued.

"Now we feel we have a legitimate reason to complain. The Legislature did not intend for local supplements to decrease when it gave us a state raise, according to State Representatives J.P. Compretta and Gerald Blasey," she said.

She then explained how some teachers are still under McCullough's plan, losing local monies.

"I have attended board meetings for 18 months, and noticed budget amendments made with little or no hesitation," Woodall said.

"The High School sign, for example, was approved at a cost of $1,200. The final bill exceeded $1,700," she continued.

"The board approved another $500 as a raise for the auditor or accountant," she added.

"Teaching school is no longer what it used to be. Years ago, a teacher could whip Johnny, and he would go home and get another whipping. That is no longer so...some parents come in here and say not to touch their child," Woodall explained.

"This board has dampened teachers' spirits. We don't believe this was deliberate, and we don't believe the board intended to hurt us," she continued.

She explained how teachers are working to cut energy costs by turning out lights and fans, and said some teachers have spent their own money on teaching aids which the system would not supply.

"I believe if you sincerely and prayerfully consider this, you will raise our local increment $100 next year," Woodall pleaded.

Her plea was met by spontaneous applause by teachers in the audience.

McCullough then told the board he was not at the meeting to argue, and explained his plan again.

"I can't see where we are shorting teachers $100," he said.

McCullough then requested the board go into executive session.

On a motion by Board Member Walter Turcotte, seconded by Board Member James Ginn, the board went into an hour-long secret meeting.

Upon returning to a public meeting, Ginn moved to adopt McCullough's pay plan.

"We have looked at Mr. McCullough's proposed salary scale, and taken all into consideration. I move we adopt Mr. McCullough's plan," Ginn said.

Diboll seconded the motion, which was passed by a unanimous vote.

Board Member Maurice Singleton was not present at the meeting.

Woodall stood up and voiced an objection.

"I believe I have a right to object," Woodall said.

Lucien Gex said she was out of order. "I object to this meeting," Woodall continued unabated.

"No minutes were read and no secretary was here to take notes. I object to this meeting," she emphasized.

Teachers at the meeting left to meet on their own and discuss alternative plans of action.

Happenings

BAY ST. LOUIS

Due to the Senior Citizens Center, Old Spanish Trail, being closed Memorial Day, the regular birthday party, usually held on the 4th Monday, was moved up to Monday, May 21.

All May birthday "celebrants" and their friends and neighbors helped make this party a biggie. There was a special birthday prize and door-prize.

SOCIAL HOUR

It was a gala event as approximately 100 Seniors participated in the "games session."

All had fun visiting with one another, and joining in the various games.

Winners this month: Gladys Blake, Celine Fairconture, Denise Green, Thelma Collier, Ruth Favre, Anna Mae Ladner, Marie Longon, W. A. Moran, Marie Fazzande, Birdie Delas, Edith Chevis, Vivian Singleton, Joe Petta, Georgiana Diebold, Harriet Jordan and Mary Lou Geraci.

The door prize - dinner for two donated by the Siroin Stockade Steak House on US-90, Waveland, was won by Carrie Williams. Enjoy the meal, Carrie.

Volunteers for this event: Jewell Stratton, Eva Ruhr, Edit Chevis, Nina Garner, Lucy Bradt, Maggie Dambino, Jennie Taconi, Cecile Galivan, Catherine Galivan, Roland Galivan, Frank Geraci, Josie Scavo, Thelma White, Margaret Smith, Lucille Reis, Julia Leddy, Georgiana Diebold, and Audrey Curet.

I personally wish to thank you for your helping to make everything a success.

I would like to take this opportunity, to render my special personal thank you to my home post of the American Legion, Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis. The Center extends heartfelt thanks to all the officers and members for sponsoring our May "games Session."

Every year the month of May is designated by the President as National Senior Citizens Month, and Post No. 239 has made it a double pleasure.

Thanks again, Legionnaires, for your generosity. It has always helped brighten the day of some of your older friends and neighbors in our community.

WAVELAND

Senior Citizens of Waveland, Inc., held its regular monthly meeting at the Civic Center, Coleman Avenue, Monday May 14.

Vice president Dudley McCall presided and introduced new member Henry Mier who is quite a fisherman, I was told.

It was reported Past President Rube Life's husband, "Doc," has been hospitalized.

We wish him a speedy recovery.

President Pere Cabibi was absent due to her mother being hospitalized. Happy to report her mother is back at home recuperating.

AARP

The American Association of Retired Persons Hancock County Chapter No. 1114 held its regular meeting on Monday, May 21, at Civic Center, Coleman Avenue.

CLOSING

This part of the column; I have always used to share a thought or two with you.

Today, however, I trust you will indulge me in using it all for myself with a personal message to a lot of fine folk. First, I will say this "closing" applies not only to today's column but to another era for me as well, and brings me to another cornerstone of my life.

My special thanks to Mr. Ellis Cuyana and the entire staff of this great periodical, the Sea Coast Echo, for all of their kindnesses to me in allowing this column each week, even though they knew it was a first endeavor for me.

I will surely miss everyone at the paper, a special so-long to Edgar Perez.

For all you readers who gave me so many fine compliments on the column, remember it came about through the generosity of the Echo.

I would like to say we have finer merchants in Hancock County than any place in the world. They have all been more than generous and gracious to me each time that I approached them for donations.

Mr. Buddy Morrow of Danny's Fried Chicken volunteered donations of delicious chicken for every birthday; People Federal Savings and Loan and Security Savings and Loan for the birthday cakes every month; Mr. Ronnie Slocum, manager of A&P Store, furnished ice for all events at the Senior Center - to these and all of our local merchants and beauticians, my gratitude forever.

To all of the wonderful RSVP Volunteers who gave so unselfishly of themselves to make each event more pleasant and successful with their smiles, friendly quips and of course their clean-up chores - space will not allow me to name you each and everyone, but you are all individually important memories to me.

To all the directors, and staff of the Center, South Mississippi Planning and Development District and RSVP, to the mayors of both of our fine cities, all of the elected officials of our county and cities - thank you is inappropriate for the ease with which you made the job an act of love more than work to me.

I must acknowledge some special backers, John Ducot, Eddie Murtagh, Luke Scianna, C. J. Pizzia, John Wilkerson, Frank Taconi, Sweet Annie Sulzer, Bea

Favre, Mildred Inch, Ginger Horn, Joe Petta, Hugh Miller, my fellow Legionnaires of both Post No. 139 and Post No. 77, and for the last time all of my beautiful voiced ladies of my telephone - committee, who were the unsung heroines, and last but far from least, all of the Grandest Bunch of Senior Citizens, of which I am Proud to say I AM ONE!

What thanks can I presume to give to you who live a gracious life of giving and receiving the golden gift of love.

All I want to say in this last column today, in this or any other way, can never be expressed.

It is best felt and understood in my voice of gratitude. In my thoughts, that with me always stay, not in words, that I have not the skill to say what

I would lie, or what I will, fashion and impart, but down in my heart, always when the loud and crowded hours are gone, and all of life is still, then my cherished memories will start their joyful parade, a lasting pleasure for just me to treasure, to relish, and renew again, and again in what would have been just another twilight gleam, but then the sunshine of life reenters my room, with everything that is good and true - my lasting friendship with each and everyone of you!

Remember, I always say, "God Loves You, and so do I. So this means we can all always smile!" I LUV YA ALL!

(Editor's note: And we at the Echo (and we are sure Mr. Fred Horn's many faithful readers can be included here) will, in turn, miss the dynamic Mr. Horn in our columns each week. Those same unbounding energies which kept him so completely aware of the 'Happenings' in the Hancock County community of Senior Citizens have led him to accept a full-time position with a Port Blenville industry. Good luck in your new 'era,' Fred.)

BACK TO SCHOOL - The Mississippi State Tax Commission and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES) Center for Governmental Technology offered the fifth annual Assessors School May 7-11 in Jackson. Participants included, from left, Albert Jacquet, deputy tax assessor, Biloxi; Yvonne Ladner, chief deputy assessor-collector, Hancock County; Edward Murtagh, assessor-collector, Hancock County; and Dr. Larry Graves, MCES governmental training specialist. The school offered three courses from the educational program of the International Association of Assessing Officers (IAAO). (Extension Service Photo)

YOU AND YOUR PET

BEAGLES (23)

The breeds are primarily outdoor dogs. House dogs had fewer cases. What can dog owners do? A blood test can determine if heartworms are already present. If they are, the veterinarian can prescribe treatment.

The Gaines Dog Research Center recommends an immediate veterinary checkup.

St. Ann's News

A thought for the day from the Library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor St. Ann's Parish

Some people think it is holding on that makes one strong. Sometimes it is letting go.

Father Hayes wants to thank all who helped make the weekend rummage sale a success.

Mass First Friday, June 1, will be at 9 a.m. in St. Ann's Church.

Sister Mary Cornelia, parish religious educator, said summer religious classes will begin in June. The date will be announced later.

We are now cleaning and servicing all makes and models, central & window unit air conditioners.

Arthritis Foundation offers memorial cards

Arthritis undermines the quality of life for millions of Americans who suffer from this painful disease. We are fighting arthritis through medical research, education and patient services.

A Memorial gift to the Arthritis Foundation is a lasting tribute to departed friends, loved ones and associates which will be used to support our search for a cure for arthritis. Additionally, Memorial gifts made to honor a birthday, holiday or other occasion, means others are helped. Persons in the Mississippi Coastal Area wishing to make a Memorial gift may write Mrs. Walter J. Gex, III, 6712 Alewa Place, Bay St. Louis, 39520, or the Mississippi Chapter Arthritis Foundation, 6055 Ridgewood Road, Jackson, 39211. Or, you can make a Memorial gift by phone by calling 487-1444.

Meet the Gulf Coast Brownbuilders... members of Brown & Root's worldwide team

Brown & Root, one of the world's largest engineering and construction companies, owes much of its success over the past 60 years to the skills and loyalty of its Brownbuilders.

Along the Gulf Coast, Brownbuilders are designing and constructing offshore oil and gas platforms and pipelines, chemical and petrochemical plants, power plants, bridges, highways, and oil field sites.

Whatever we do, wherever we do it, one thing remains the same. We recruit, hire, train, and advance as many local people as possible - Gulf Coast Brownbuilders like the ones you see here - working on Brown & Root projects throughout the Gulf Coast states.

It's been our policy for years to hire locally first, so wherever Brown & Root works there are job opportunities for people qualified, willing, and able to work. That way, local communities, counties, and states get maximum benefit from projects on which we work - in jobs, payrolls, purchases, savings, and taxes.

YOUR ELECTRIC SERVICE AND SUMMERTIME BILLS

Here in Southeast Mississippi, we are approaching the season of the year when the use of electricity sharply increases and electric service bills rise significantly. When the weather heats up, air conditioning is used for comfort; refrigerators and freezers run longer.

On average, the residential customer of Mississippi Power Company uses about twice as much electricity in mid-summer as in April, as figures in the table below indicate.

	1978		1977		1976
	Average Residential KWH Billed	Percent Increase Over April	Average Residential KWH Billed	Percent Increase Over April	Average Residential KWH Billed	Percent Increase Over April
April	651 KWH		621 KWH		596 KWH
May	623 KWH	(4.3%)	650 KWH	4.7%	623 KWH	4.5%
June	952 KWH	46.2%	936 KWH	50.7%	735 KWH	23.3%
July	1,325 KWH	103.5%	1,368 KWH	120.3%	1,100 KWH	84.6%
August	1,307 KWH	100.8%	1,325 KWH	113.4%	1,264 KWH	112.1%
September	1,268 KWH	94.8%	1,209 KWH	94.7%	1,211 KWH	103.2%

Even though the average cost per kilowatt-hour of residential electric service to our customers was only 2.7 percent more in 1978 than in 1977, that cost has risen considerably over the last six years. This rise has been due to general inflation, a staggering increase in fuel prices, and expenses required to comply with Federal environmental laws and regulations. Unfortunately, these outside pressures are still with us, and electric service costs will have to reflect the economic realities of our times.

These facts prompt us once again to urge our customers to use electricity as efficiently as possible, particularly during the hot summer months ahead. The wise use of electricity not only conserves our precious fuel resources but also helps you save money on electric bills.

Every time you switch on an appliance or the thermostat turns it on, our power plants burn more fuel and produce additional electricity which flows to that appliance and makes it operate. The decision to use our electric service is yours — we have to respond.

To help you get the most value for your money, we have placed Energy Information Centers in our business offices. These displays contain brochures and pamphlets on a variety of subjects, including the wise use of electricity, the correct way to read an electric meter, fuel costs, and the energy-efficient heat pump. These publications are available free of charge, and we invite you to pick up a copy of one or more booklets. We believe this material is informative and helpful.

You may wish to take advantage of our home energy inspection program. For a small service fee, a specially-trained company representative will come to your home, measure square footage, inspect insulation, and gather other information. This data is telephoned into a central computer programmed to take into account such factors as construction techniques, climate, and rate of inflation. The result is a personalized analysis of energy-saving home improvements with an estimate of what each improvement will cost and the number of years required for payback.

Mississippi Power Company has plenty of generating capacity, but we don't want you to buy a kilowatt-hour more than you need. Please use our service as efficiently as possible.

We appreciate your business, and nothing concerns us more than to see the cost of our service increase. We pledge our total efforts to continue serving you courteously and efficiently and to search for every means of keeping the cost of our service as low as possible.

Bay family attends

Bahai's convention

More than 2,000 Baha'is gathered at Des Palines, Illinois, near Chicago, April 26-29 for the 70th Annual Convention of the Baha'is of the United States.

Among those attending were 171 delegates from 93 Baha'i electoral districts in the continental U.S. who met to elect the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States, a nine-member body that is responsible for administering the affairs of the American Baha'i community.

The National Spiritual Assembly is elected annually by secret ballot. Campaigning for office and electioneering are forbidden in the Baha'i Faith.

One of the Two delegates from Mississippi was Louis H. Schwabacher III, a resident of Bay St. Louis and a member of the Baha'i Faith for seven years.

Mr. Schwabacher works for the Mississippi State Department of Welfare and has resided with his wife Sherry and two daughters, Alice and Bahiyah, in Bay St. Louis for the past five years where they came from Illinois to fulfill a teaching goal in the last teaching plan of the Baha'i Faith which has just concluded.

Delegates to the Convention consulted on a number of issues including the recent persecution of Baha'is in Iran, and heard reports on the latest developments in meeting the American Baha'i community's goals.

This year, the Convention coincided with the close of a five-year global teaching plan designated to familiarize the public with the aims and principles of the Baha'i Faith, as well as to strengthen Baha'i community life, expand the scope of Baha'i child education, increase the amount and variety of Baha'i literature in English and other languages, assist in spreading the Faith to other countries, and increase the number of Local Spiritual Assemblies, nine-member bodies who govern the affairs of the Baha'i Faith at the local level.

There are at present more than 1,400 Local Spiritual Assemblies in the continental United States. Baha'is reside in more than 7,000 communities in this country.

Other groups that will be appearing include Michelle D'Antoni and Band, Diane Durret and Band, Johnny Dunn-Chicago, Continentals Quartet, Stony Creek Band, McCall Creek Band, plus many more top bluegrass and country groups.

"This year's festival promises to be a fun day for the entire family," says Festival Chairman Donald Vince. "We're expecting a big crowd for this year's festival," explains Vince.

Entertainment will begin Friday evening, featuring Jimmy Martin. Family fun events will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday morning, including a tennis tournament, sky divers, championship turkey-calling contest, muzzle-loader competition, arts and crafts booths and canoe races.

Tickets for adults are $5 advance or $4 at the gate;

A main attraction of Saturday afternoon will be the Atwood Bluegrass Festival Classic Canoe Races, beginning at 1 p.m. Sponsored by the Exchange Club of Monticello and the Pearl River Basin Development District, the Atwood Race will be the second leg of the Pearl River Boatway Canoe Racing Series.

The race course will begin approximately 5 miles above Atwood Water Park, the park being the finish line. Trophies and ribbons will be awarded "on stage" during the festival events, to the first six places in Aluminum, Fiberglass and Open Classes.

Entry fee of $5 for racers includes a festival ticket. Racers must sign up at the park before 1 p.m.

Further information concerning the canoe races may be obtained by calling the Exchange Club of Monticello at 587-2473, 587-2946, or the Pearl River Basin Development District at 58-5301.

Book Review

HOW TO GET A DIVORCE WITHOUT A LAWYER have to face." - David I. Levine.

"The purpose of my book is to give you all the most practical and useful information available on divorce - what the law is, what the tax rulings are, and what emotional problems you may alimony?

These questions and many others are answered by Levine in HOW TO GET A DIVORCE WITH OR WITHOUT A LAWYER, an up-to-date guide being published by Bantam on May 1 as a paperback original.

HOW TO GET A DIVORCE covers every aspect of marital break-up, from the financial to the emotional. It goes into marriage alternatives, and refers to individual divorce cases, including those of Lee Marvin, Elizabeth Taylor and Howard Hughes.

The manual, beginning on page 129, includes detailed date obtained from the Attorney General's office on the specific marriage and divorce laws in all 50 states.

This special state-by-state section includes marriage requirements, what constitutes grounds for divorce in each state, grounds for annulment, grounds for legal separation, residency requirements, and what happens to real estate and personal estates when there is no will.

According to the World Almanac, more than 2.5 million couples in America will face divorce this year.

Air Force general favors draft registration return

By RICH ADAMS
A high ranking U.S. Air Force general in charge of recruiting manpower said he supports the reinstatement of Selective Service registration to insure readiness in the event of war.
General Bennie L. Davis, commander of air training command at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, said Thursday some 110 to 120 days would be required to provide necessary forces for a war.
General Davis made the statements during a press conference following a change-of-command ceremony at Keesler Air Force Base Thursday.
Davis said the U.S. Army is having "sizeable reserve problems" which may only be remedied by immediate reinstatement of registration and later the draft if necessary.
"I recommend reinstatement of registration because if we required mobilization tomorrow morning, a selective service study two years ago shows it would take between 110 to 120 days to deliver the required number of personnel into training," Davis said.

"The Army has sizeable reserve problems, but the Air Force reserves forces are the best ever right now," he continued.
"I have no interest in reinstating the actual draft because there is no reason to do so now," the general added.
Davis also feels bringing back draft registration will add motivation for young men to volunteer for the Air Force and Navy.
"In 1972, the year prior to the draft ending, there were between 40 and 45 percent volunteers who entered the Air Force because they did not want to be drafted into any other branch of service," Davis explained.
"I don't believe the draft should be called a 'threat' which induces people to volunteer, I would rather call it motivation," he added.
General Davis said many more people are joining the Air Force than other branches of service because it is "a technological and glamorous

Tax status unanswered

Supervisors delay Krishna decision

By RICH ADAMS
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday recessed a special hearing until June 18 after it was unable to reach a decision on giving the International Society for Krishna Consciousness Incorporated a tax exemption on some 607 acres of land in the county.
During the hearing Hare Krishna members from the New Talavan community in Hancock County near the Pearl River County border testified.
The religious group is attempting to obtain a tax-exempt status on a farm they say is used for education of children and adults.
Ocean Springs Attorney Earl Denham represented the community which claims to house some 35-40 men, women and children.
In the past, the board has allowed a tax break on only 10 acres which is used for elementary education of children on the farm.
Darrell J. Martin, a Krishna devotee who serves as head schoolmaster at the commune, told the supervisors the entire farm is used for educational purposes.
Martin said the elementary school at the Krishna site, a two-story, 10-classroom building, has an attendance of 15 children with five more enrolled for next year's program.
Martin, his wife Linda, and Lidia Lightfoot all serve as teachers at the school, he told the supervisors.

He explained 12 males between the ages of 10 and 20 are at the community.

Sewer grant down drain if July deadline not met

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Mayor Larry Bennett said Friday the city can "hang up" chances of receiving a $272,000 Housing and Urban Development grant this year unless a contract is let by July 15 to complete sewer and water construction financed through a 1978 HUD grant.

"Some $200,270 from a 1978 Small Cities Grant was released to Bay St.

Louis for sewerage and water constructions in December 1978," the mayor said.

The 1978 grant will finance projects in the 500 blocks of Kellar, Sycamore and Washington streets which are low and moderate income residential areas, he added.

Completion of a survey, a legal description and two appraisals of land which must be purchased by the city to implement the sewer and water projects are presently holding up the contract, the mayor explained.
Brown Engineers Inc. of Gulfport is the engineering firm for the small cities project.

"Since December, Brown has been drawing plans and specifications for the project requiring acquisition of property," Bennett continued.

"Before the cities project contract is let," Bennett continued, "a survey has to be made by Brown's firm according to HUD regulations, a legal description has to be drawn by Joseph Gex, Bay St. Louis Council attorney, and two appraisals of the land must then be made."

Also, the owners of the land have to sell their property before the contract is let, he added.

The Bay St. Louis Council Tuesday night directed Brown Engineers to begin the survey immediately.

Mayor Bennett said this is the first time Bay St. Louis has received a small cities grant.

A 1979 grant, which has been applied for, will provide water and sewerage to residents on Easterbrook, St. John, State and DeMontluzin streets, but will not be accepted if the contract is not let by July 15.

The mayor said he was advised of the potential non-acceptance of the 1979 grant by a representative of HUD located in Jackson.

Bennett emphasized "I have put in a lot of time, energy and effort into acquiring this 1978 grant and I hope nothing will be done to jeopardize receiving funds for our city."

Bay teachers sign contracts

By RICH ADAMS
A salary scale battle between teachers and the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District apparently ended temporarily Thursday as teachers who were protesting what they called unfair pay raises for some teachers signed their contracts one day before an extended deadline set by the school board.

Had the teachers not signed their contracts, they could have been passed over for re-employment in the school system and another teacher would have been hired to replace them.

Mississippi Association of Educators Field Representative Burt Barrett reported the teachers signed their contracts despite dissatisfaction with a pay plan adopted by the school board in a special meeting Tuesday.

Teachers complained a salary scale adopted by the board May 4 in a 2 p.m. special meeting which equalized local pay supplements at $800 for all teachers was unfair to some teachers with experience.

The board met again May 14 at a regular meeting and agreed to study the school budget to see if a higher local supplement for those experienced educators would be feasible.

At a special meeting Tuesday, the board adopted a three-day plan recommended by Superintendent J. D. McCullouch which gives less experienced teachers an equalized $800 supplement and maintains this year's $900 to $950 supplement for certain qualified experienced teachers.

Barrett said some teachers demanded an addendum be attached to the contracts signed Thursday ob-

County schools protest 'hazardous' campus road

By RICH ADAMS

The Hancock County School Board passed a resolution last week requesting the Board of Supervisors to either install 'speed bumps' or remove entirely a county road running directly through the Hancock North Central high school campus.

The Cuetown Road separates HNC's football stadium, practice fields and field house from the remainder of the Attendance Center.

Board Member Oris Ladner suggested speed bumps be installed to slow traffic passing in front of the school, pointing out the road was listed as a deficiency during a recent inspection of the school by the State Accreditation Board.

Board Attorney Joseph Gex suggested the board pass a resolution requesting the supervisors move the street, or put speed bumps at intervals to slow traffic.

Board hires coordinator

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Gulfview Elementary School Principal Harlin Hill was hired as Federal and State Programs Coordinator for the Hancock County School District yesterday.

At a Saturday morning school board meeting board members voted three to one in favor of hiring Hill for a 1-year term as coordinator. His salary is not to exceed $20,000.

Hill's new responsibilities entail coordinating federal and state programs, testing, textbook selection, energy conservation, and all other duties assigned by Hancock County School District Superintendent Terrell Randolph.

Board member Oris Ladner voted against the measure saying "I would prefer to hire Hill as coordinator for a two year period, not one year."

Hancock North Central Principal Thad Haskins noted some janitors within the county school district were getting paid less than minimum wage for each hour of work.

Hancock North Central Assistant Principal James Harrison said cars speeding through campus create a hazard to students crossing the road to attend classes at the football stadium or

ROAD—Page 2A

Randolph quickly remedied the situation by drafting a recommendation calling for all non-certified personnel in the district to receive at least minimum wage.

Board members unanimously approved the recommendation.

In addition, board members authorized Randolph to meet with representatives of the Economic Finance Commission (EFC) in Jackson, and the Mississippi Accreditation Department June 7 and 8.

In other action the Board:
—Authorized the hiring of a carpenter to perform renovations in the school system in preparation for the 1979-80 school year.

—Authorized the purchase of a check protector be advertised.

—Approved an EFC long-range form requesting the EFC give the county school system $270,000 for construction.

The Board went into executive session at 10 p.m., leaving the public from the Saturday meeting.

HOW TO GET A DIVORCE WITHOUT A LAWYER

"The purpose of my book is to give you all the most practical and useful information available on divorce - what the law is, what the tax rulings are, and what emotional problems you may have to face." - David I. Levine.

Do you need a lawyer or is a divorce kit just as effective? -How much should your divorce cost?

-How do you construct a separation agreement?

-When can you waive alimony?

These questions and many others are answered by Levine in HOW TO GET A DIVORCE WITH OR WITHOUT A LAWYER, an up-to-date guide being published by Bantam on May 1 as a paperback original.

HOW TO GET A DIVORCE covers every aspect of marital break-up, from the financial to the emotional.

It goes into marriage alternatives and refers to individual divorce cases, including those of Lea Marvin, Elizabeth Taylor and Howard Hughes.

The manual, beginning on page 129, includes detailed date obtained from the Attorney General's office on the specific marriage and divorce laws in all 50 states.

This special state-by-state section includes marriage requirements, what constitutes grounds for divorce in each state, grounds for annulment, grounds for legal separation, residency requirements, and what happens to real estate and personal estates when there is no will.

According to the World Almanac, more than 2.5 million couples in America will face divorce this year.
